The Faldo Legacy Course at Roco Ki Rated in World's 10 Best New Courses for 2008 by Travel + Leisure GOLF

"Roco Ki . . . is a course designer's dream"—Nick Faldo

MACAO BEACH, PUNTA CANA, Dominican Republic, Nov. 17 / Roco Ki / — Travel + Leisure GOLF chose The Faldo Legacy Course at Roco Ki as one of the world's 10 Best New Courses for 2008. This is the first golf course in the Caribbean designed by Nick Faldo, 2008 Ryder Cup captain and Golf Hall of Fame living legend.

"When I first stepped onto the site of our course at Roco Ki, I was certain that we could achieve something very special. In many ways, that land is a course designer's dream allowing as it does for so much variety across the 18 holes leading up to an absolutely stunning finish."— Nick Faldo Troon Golf™ manages the Faldo Legacy Course at Roco Ki—a par 72, 18 hole course that winds through dunes, marsh and forest, opening to the sea at the seventeenth. "This is a rare honor to receive, as over 100 courses opened in 2008 around the world," stated Hud Hinton, president and COO, Troon Golf. "The Faldo Legacy Course at Roco Ki is the first new Caribbean course to receive this recognition since 2004." Raters commented that holes # 17 & #18 rival Pebble Beach and St. Andrews.

"We are delighted the course was chosen for this honor. Our design teams are aiming for this level of greatness in every area of the Roco Ki experience. The Travel + Leisure GOLF course ranking indicates we are right on target."

Nick Tawil, CEO of Roco Ki
