

MARK MOLLIKA NAMED VICE PRESIDENT OF SALES AND RESIDENTIAL MARKETING FOR ROCO KI

SANTO DOMINGO, Dominican Republic (May 7)—Mark Mollica has been named Vice President of Sales for Roco Ki, the multi-billion-dollar luxury resort and residential development underway in the Punta Cana region of the Dominican Republic, scheduled for a Winter/Spring 2009 opening. The 2,700-acre luxury oceanfront community is poised to be one of the largest resort community developments in the Caribbean—featuring luxury residences, condominiums, villas, penthouses and oceanfront custom home sites.

“We are honored to have Mark Mollica join the Roco Ki family. His experience and success with the luxury residential market is extraordinary.” -Nick Tawil, president and CEO of Roco Ki

Previously, Mark Mollica represented: The Owners by ClubCorp at Hilton Head, South Carolina; The Homestead in Virginia; and Ritz Carlton Properties in Jupiter, Florida and Aspen, Colorado. He is a graduate of William and Mary in Virginia and received his law degree from the Thomas Jefferson School of Law in San Diego. Prior to joining Roco Ki, Mr. Mollica was Regional Vice President of Sales for Cotton & Company, a Stuart, Florida based real estate marketing and sales firm representing developers throughout the Caribbean.

Roco Ki properties include offerings by: The Westin Roco Ki Beach & Golf Resort Residences and Fairmont Roco Ki. For more information, visit: <http://www.rocoki.com>.
